INTRODUCTION

The records of the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs span the years 1849 to 1993. They consist of various types of documents created or collected by the department and its predecessor agencies while performing their functions related to the regulation of business activity in Hawaii. The first of these records were received from the Territorial Treasury Department in 1957, and there have been additional accessions since then.

The collection is comprised of 1400 reels of microfilm, 18,945 microfiche, 147.24 cubic/linear feet of paper records, and 20 linear feet of bound hardcover volumes. The records include Articles of Incorporation Files, Certificates of Dissolution and Dissolution Statements, Annual Profit and Eleemosynary Corporation Exhibits, Affidavits of Incorporation and Supplementary Affidavits, Petitions for Extension of Change of Corporation Name, Partnership Changes of Name, Partnership Annual Statements, Cancelled Limited Partnership Files, Trademark Records, Annual Agricultural and Fishing Cooperative Exhibits, and Minutes of the Boards of the Professional and Vocational Licensing Division. Access to the collection is unrestricted.

AGENCY HISTORY

Regulation of business and commercial activity is a prerogative of government. In Hawaii, the government has regulated business in various ways since the period of the Kingdom. Such regulation is currently performed by the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs which is responsible for consumer-advocacy and protection functions within the State of Hawaii. The present agency is the successor of the following earlier entities: the Interior Department of the Kingdom, the Provisional Government and Republic; the territorial Office of the Treasurer and Treasury Department; and following statehood, the Department of Treasury and Regulation. The Department of Treasury and Regulation was subsequently renamed the Department of Regulatory Agencies. In 1982, to underscore a shift in emphasis to commerce and consumer concerns, it acquired its current title, the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs. The department develops and administers programs for the protection of consumers, depositors and investors, as well as rules and standards for licensing, regulation and monitoring of financial institutions, professions, businesses, and trades.

The Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs consists of numerous divisions such as: Business Registration Division, Cable Television Division, Division of Financial Institution, Division of Consumer Advocacy, Office of Consumer Protection,

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This record group provides detailed documentation regarding the registration and regulation mandated by government for business and professions to operate in Hawaii, from the Kingdom, throughout the Provisional Government and Republic, the Territory, and up to the present State government. (Related records from the Kingdom are also described in other record groups.) The records are divided into two groups: Business Registration Division records and Professional and Vocational Licensing Division records.

Within the records are the names of all the different companies doing business in Hawaii from 1849 and continuing throughout most of the 20th Century. Additionally, they indicate the types of associations formed relative to available business opportunities, the names of entrepreneurs and licensed practitioners, the types of associations formed, and whether a business is for profit or eleemosynary purposes.

Since there are very few gaps in the records, and because the records increase in volume and variety over time, they provide a continuous and comprehensive insight on the intensity and diversity of business activity in Hawaii since 1893.

The Business Registration Division records are divided into eleven series: Hawaii Corporations (Dissolved) Case Files (158), Annual Profit Corporation Exhibits (231), Annual Eleemosynary (Non-Profit) Corporation Exhibits (231A), Partnership Registration Statements (232), Trademark Records (237), Articles of Incorporation (256) Partnership Change of Name Statements and Dissolution Statements (307), Partnership Annual Statements (308), Cancelled Limited Partnership Files (309), Record Books of Corporations and Partnerships (323), and Annual Agricultural and Fishing Cooperative Exhibits (329). The Professional and Vocational Licensing Division records fall under one series: Minutes of the Boards (238). Microfilming of Series 158, 231, 231A, 232, 307 and 308 began in 1960 and is ongoing.

After microfilming, the original paper document is destroyed unless it is considered to be an illegible microfilm target. In that case, an "illegible target" precedes the document on the microfilm, and the original paper document is preserved. Such "illegibles" are available to researchers upon request.

BUSINESS REGISTRATION DIVISION

The granting of charters of incorporation is one of the oldest functions of the government. The oldest corporation on record in Hawaii is Punahou School. Its charter of incorporation was granted on May 23, 1853, under the name of the Trustees of Oahu College by Keoni Ana, Minister of the Interior of the Kingdom of the Hawaiian Islands. The corporate name was changed on July 2, 1934 to Punahou School. Kohala Sugar Company is the oldest profit corporation on record. Its charter was granted on February 3, 1863 by Lot Kamehameha, Minister of the Interior.

The Minister of the Interior of the Kingdom of the Hawaiian Islands also had the duty of registering partnerships, tradenames, trademarks, prints and labels. Partnerships were first registered in 1880. The first trade mark was registered on October 25, 1888 by Benson, Smith & Co. for Buhac insect powder. Upon annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States as a territory, the powers and duties of the Minister of the Interior were vested in the Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii.

Today, under the Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs, the Business Registration Division directs a wide variety of activities regulating: corporations; partnerships; sale of securities; registration of trademarks, trade names, service marks, prints, and labels; and charitable organizations. The division administers its policies, renders administrative interpretations, studies applicable laws for defects and weaknesses, and prepares legislation to remedy such defects. In addition to its administrative functions, the Division directs investigations of reported violations of regulations or statutes.

This division is primarily a registration office, and only documents and applications that are in compliance with the applicable statutory requirements are accepted for record. A good deal of time is spent by the employees to examine all documents and applications files for statutory compliance. A very important responsibility of this division is to determine that no corporate name, partnership name, or trade name is the same or confusingly similar with other registered names.

256 ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. 1849-1966. 9.0 linear feet of 43 hardcover volumes titled "Records--Articles of Association" and one 5 inch box containing 22 file folders (0.25 cubic feet) of separated papers. Most of the records are for the years 1849-1930.

Arranged numerically by volume and therein in approximate chronological order by date incorporation papers were filed or recorded.

This series contains documents regarding the incorporation and dissolution of associations doing business in Hawaii during the Kingdom, Provisional Government and Republic, and Territory mostly up to the year 1930 (there are a few records added after 1930). The volumes were originally created in compliance with Chapter 43, Session Laws of 1890.

Volumes contain Articles of Incorporation (Articles of Association), Petitions for Incorporation (Matter of Incorporation), and Petitions and Certificates for Dissolution (Disincorporation). Articles of Incorporation announce the initial formation of a corporate entity, explain its purpose, list its officers, and give the amount of capital to be invested. Dissolution indicates that the corporation ceases to exist; in the early volumes in this Series, dissolution statements are written lengthwise from top to bottom across the page in red ink.

Many records include documents that propose, amend, explain or request adjustments to the organizational or economic structure of a corporation. Some records contain extensive documentation which may include: Petitions for Allowance of Amendment, Allowances of Amendment, Amended Charters of Incorporation, Affidavits of Incorporation and Supplementary Affidavits, Notifications of Increase or Reduction of Capital Stock, Certificates of Change of Corporate Name, Extensions of Term of Corporate Existence, lists naming stockholders and amount of stock held, deeds of conveyance of land, property, or title to the corporation by individual shareholders, and the by-laws and constitutions of non-profit associations.

Except for a few records in the first volume written in Hawaiian, the records are in English. Records for the years 1849-1930 appear continuous; however, records were entered by date rather than corporate number or name, therefore petitions or amendments for a corporation may not be located with the initial filing for incorporation and might be found within another volume. Separated records contain amendments to the articles of incorporation and run from 1858-1966.
