Scenario-Based Requirements Concluded RFP Efforts Underway

Over the past few months, the EFS Project Team has engaged with over 80 subject matter experts (SMEs) from various State departments during a series of scenario-based requirements workshops. The workshops concluded in late July, generating valuable feedback and data that will be critical in developing a comprehensive request for proposals (RFP) to procure a software platform and system integrator for the State's new enterprise financial system (EFS).

As we move forward in these final stages of developing the RFP, we'd like to extend our sincere gratitude to everyone who has supported our team. Your significant investment of time, talent, and resources is greatly appreciated and will play a pivotal role in one of the largest and most important system modernization projects the State has undertaken in over half a century.

Assembling the EFS Evaluation Committee

The EFS Project Team is currently finalizing and preparing to publish the RFP for the new EFS. As part of that process, our project team has been collaborating with State department directors, deputies, and administrators to assemble the project's EFS Evaluation Committee.
