

KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOLS
KA'IWAKĪLOUMOKU HAWAIIAN CULTURAL CENTER
HAWAII STATE ARCHIVES
Lāhui Rising Series

Welo Ha'aheo

An Exhibition of Hawaiian Royal Flags

The Hawai'i State Archives will exhibit the Royal Flag of Queen Lili'uokalani and other historical flags from the Kingdom of Hawai'i. In celebration of Archives Month, there will also be a demonstration of conservation techniques. Come learn about the various collections located throughout the community, and enjoy lecture presentations by special guests.

Prince Henry of Prussia arriving at Ali'iolani Hale in 1879 for an audience with King Kalākaua and Queen Kapi'olani. The Royal Hawaiian Standard flies above what is known today as the Judiciary Building where the King Kamehameha Statue stands. Image courtesy: Hawai'i State Archives

10:00 am – 4:00 pm View flags and conservation work at your leisure

10:30 am – 11:30 am “Kuu Hae Hawaii’: Po’e Aloha ‘Āina and the Hawaiian Kingdom Flag,”
Dr. Ronald Williams, Jr. – President,
Hawaiian Historical Society

1:00 pm – 2:00 pm “Royal Standards of the Hawaiian Kingdom,” Dr. Douglas Askman –
Associate Professor of History,
Hawai'i Pacific University

*Royal Flag of Queen Lili'uokalani.
Photo courtesy: Matt Mallams*

Saturday,
October 21, 2017
10 am – 4 pm

Ka'iwakīloumoku,
KS Kapālama
Campus

Royal Standard of Hawai'i from the reign of King Kalākaua. Photo courtesy: Hawai'i State Archives

LĀHUI RISING is designed to create a respectful, safe, and enriching learning space for students, staff, alumni, families and the community to hear and honor different voices and perspectives on matters of Hawaiian interest for purposes of education.

For more information please contact
Jamie Fong, Ka'iwakīloumoku manager at 842-8655 or jafong@ksbe.edu.