

VITAL STATISTICS COLLECTION
1826-1929

INTRODUCTION

The Vital Statistics Collection includes reports of births, marriages and deaths; lists of agents to grant marriage licenses; lists of appointments of marriage agents; marriage record books; marriage record stubs; reports of licenses granted; marriage licenses; records of issue of license to marry; license stubs of persons licensed to perform marriages; and applications for licenses to perform marriages. The complete provenance of the records cannot be documented in Archives files; however, the collection was artificially assembled probably about 1930, from those records of the Department of Public Instruction, Department of Interior and the Territorial Treasurer which relate to births, marriages and deaths. There are two sets of indexes to the collection: records through 1910 and records 1911-1929. Both sets are arranged by island and thereunder alphabetically by name. The collection totals 30.8 linear feet, some of which has been microfilmed on six 35 mm reels.

Access to records less than 75 years old is restricted to individuals who have a direct and tangible interest (HRS section 338-18). Requests for access to such records must be screened by an archivist.

AGENCY HISTORY

Responsibility for maintaining records of births, deaths and marriages was split among various agencies such as the Department of Interior and Department of Public Instruction until 1896 when the responsibility was assigned to the Registrar of Vital Statistics, Department of Health. Hawaii's earliest laws on registration of births and marriages, passed in 1842, required the tax officers under the island governors to be informed about the births and the island governors to issue "written assent" for marriages. From 1846, the governors were required to keep a register of births and records of marriage licenses. Reporting of deaths was not required until 1850. In 1850, school inspectors under the Department of Public Instruction appointed registrars of births, marriages and deaths from among school teachers or other suitable persons. This meant that by law registration of births, marriages and deaths had to be made both to the Minister of Interior and the Minister of Public Instruction. To avoid "confusion in reports and unnecessary labor", a law was passed in 1851 transferring the responsibility solely to the Department of Public Instruction.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The first official statistics on marriages were compiled in 1845 but the Minister of the Interior warned that they may not have been perfect. Although reports of vital statistics were required by law, many of the reports were not turned in and vital statistics were seriously underreported. An 1863 report of marriages was the last to be issued before 1896 when the Board of Health again tried to compile reports of births, marriages and deaths but noted that they were very unsatisfactory. This incomplete recordskeeping, especially in the early years, is reflected in the Archives Vital Statistics Collection.

The Vital Statistics Collection was artificially created by the Archives and indexes to the collection use the numbering system assigned by the Archives. Records are arranged by islands and designated by letters: "H" for Hawaii, "M" for Maui, "Mo" for Molokai, "N" for Niihau, and "O" for Oahu. Each file has a number and the records are loosely chronological.

From 1896, the Record of Issue of License to Marry has the most information: date of license, names and residence of the bride and groom, previous marital status, and names, nationality and residence of parents, while most other document types have only the names of the parties being married, district and date of marriage.

The marriages are divided into 1) marriages up to 1910 and 2) marriages between 1911 and 1929 and indexes retain this division. A marriage may have multiple listings in the index because there may be up to three document types for one marriage. Although most records contain the same information, discrepancies in information and spelling sometimes occur between the various records.

There are some printed forms in Japanese, dated 1926-1927, of uncertain provenance which duplicate records in English. The information contained is the same as that on the record of issue of license to marry. The English version, however, is sometimes incorrect so someone proficient in the Japanese language can compare the Japanese characters for correctness. Where they exist, these records are not indexed but are attached to the marriage records in English.

SERIES DESCRIPTION

223 RECORDS OF VITAL STATISTICS. 1826-1929. 30 cubic feet.

Arrangement is by island and designated by letters: "H" for Hawaii, "K" for Kauai, "M" for Maui, "Mo" for Molokai, "N" for Niihau, and "O" for Oahu. Each file has a number and the records are loosely chronological.

There are very few records of births (1.5 linear inches) in the Vital Statistics Collection. They are arranged by island and then roughly chronologically and consist of listings submitted by school teachers who kept registers of births to be submitted to the Department of Public Instruction. Records before 1864 are basically statistical. A few baptismal records are included: O-15, (Kawailoa area, undated and unindexed); O-30 and O-31 (Bethel Union Church, Honolulu, 1843-1887). Indexes are available by the child's name and by the parents' names and records contain minimally the name of the child, district, and birth date. Race or color was not a requirement on certificates of birth until 1937. Some reports also show sex, place of birth and parents' names. Hawaii covers 1853-1858, 1860-1861, 1869-1897, 1900; Kauai - 1856-1857; Maui - 1860-1864, 1899; Niihau - 1853, 1855-1856; and Oahu - 1852-1856, 1858-1860, 1863-1873. These records are available on microfilm. Use microfilm no. 53 (MFL 53), Vital Statistics Collection for H-5, H-6, H-9, H-12 and H-13 and microfilm no. 69 (MFL 69), Vital Statistics Collection for K-4, K-8, M-6, M-8, M-10, N-3, N-5, O-6/7, O-8/9, O-13a, O-15 and O-21.

There are very few records of deaths (1.25 linear inches). The are arranged by island and then roughly chronologically and consist of listings submitted by school teachers who kept registers of deaths to be submitted to the Department of Public Instruction before 1896 and by agents to the Department of Health after 1896. Records before 1864 are basically statistical. Indexes are available by individual's name for all islands except Kauai. Death records minimally show the name, date of death, and district. Some reports also show sex, residence, place of birth and cause of death. Nationality was a requirement on death records as early as 1878. Hawaii covers 1853-1898; Kauai - 1852, 1856, 1857; Maui - 1860-1864, 1897-1899; Niihau - 1853, 1855-1856; and Oahu - 1852-1856, 1858-1860, 1863-1873. These records are available on microfilm. Use microfilm no. 53 (MFL 53), Vital Statistics Collection for H-7 to H-9, H-12 and H-13 and microfilm no. 69 (MFL 69), Vital Statistics Collection for K-4 to K-6, K-8, M-7, M-8, M-10, N-4, N-5, O-6/7, O-8/9, O-13a and O-21.

The majority of records are of marriages (368.45 linear inches) which are arranged by island and then roughly chronologically. The records, which are not complete, include the records from 1) marriage license agents who issued licenses to marry, 2) ministers who conducted the ceremonies, 3) school agents who were required to file reports and 4) the Territorial Treasurer.

Records of the marriage license agents include 1) reports of licenses granted, 2) marriage licenses, and 3) records of issue of license to marry. Reports of licenses granted are sparse and span 1841 to 1893. These were required to be sent to the Department of the Interior or to the Department of Public Instruction. The information includes names of bride and groom, date of license and may include residence. Marriage licenses span 1837 to 1929 and are also sparse. The earliest records show names, date, district and sometimes place of residence. These may be in Hawaiian and called Palapala Mare or Palapala ae e Mare. Licenses to Marry from the late 1800's show names, nationality, age, previous marital status and residence. About 1928 another version added birth place and length of residency of the bride and groom, race and birthplace of parents. Records of issue of license to marry cover 1896-1929 and show date of license, names and residence of the bride and groom, and previous marital status. The report of issue of license to marry shows names, age, nationality and residence of the bride and groom, nationality and residence of parents, place and date of marriage. The form was later amended to add birthplace and length of residence for bride and groom and birthplace of parents. Parents' permission to marry for minors are sometimes included but only have name of minor, names of parents, and date of consent. These have not been indexed but usually follow the records of issue of license to marry or record of marriage for that marriage.

Records from the clergy include: 1) marriage record books, 2) reports of marriage, 3) records of marriage, 4) marriage record stubs, and 5) marriage certificates. Marriage record books were kept by individual ministers or churches recording information on the ceremonies performed. Basic information includes names of bride and groom, date of marriage, and often place of residence. Reports of marriage were done yearly and sent to the Department of Interior or the Department of Public Instruction. The bride and groom are listed besides the date of marriage and sometimes residence. Records of marriage were printed forms filled out by the minister to be sent to the registrar. The earlier forms show names, age, nationality and residence of the bride and groom; names, nationality and residence of their parents, and place and date of ceremony. About 1916 a Territorial form added previous marital status, birthplace of the bride and groom, and length of residency in the Territory for the couple. Hongwanji Mission had their own form for records of marriage with the same information. Marriage record stubs record information from the certificates such as date and place of marriage, names of bride and groom, witnesses and minister's names. Marriage certificates include names of bride and groom, residence, date of marriage and name of minister.

Records of the School Agent include Reports of Marriages required to be sent in by school teachers to the Department of Public Instruction. The lists show names, dates and sometimes residence.

Records of the Territorial Treasurer include applications for licenses to perform marriages (1916-1929). These applications include full name of licensee, age, place of birth, nationality, citizenship, period of residence in Hawaii, if ordained minister, church denomination and ordination date, place of residence, and whether applicant can read and write the English language. Since certificates from one or more reputable persons attesting to the applicant's character were required, some letters of recommendation are also included especially from the head of the church. The majority of the applicants are Caucasians and Japanese. Japanese applications were sometimes rejected because the applicants' proficiency in the English language was questioned especially if they were new arrivals in Hawaii. These records are not indexed but they are arranged alphabetically by the name of the applicant. There are very few Hawaiian applicants and the majority of them appear under the letter "K". Most of the applicants are clergymen with some being district magistrates. License stubs of persons authorized to perform marriages have only the name of the licensee, residence, date of license, date of delivery and to whom delivered.

Hawaii covers 1832-1900; Kauai, 1826-1894; Maui, 1843-1907; Molokai, 1850-1892; Niihau, 1853-1865; and Oahu, 1832-1895.

These records are available on microfilm. Use microfilm no. 53 (MFL 53), Vital Statistics Collection for H-12 to H-17 and microfilm no. 69 (MFL 69), Vital Statistics Collection for H-18 to H-32, H-34, K-6, K-8 to K-15, M-8, M-10, M-11, M-14 to M-17, M-45, Mo-6 to Mo-9, N-1/2, N-5, N-6, O-13a, O-14, O-16 to O-24, O-26 to O-31, O-33, and O-36 to O-42.
