RECORDS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

INTRODUCTION

The records of the Department of Land and Natural Resources document the administration of public lands from 1846 to 1990.

The minutes of the Board of Land and Natural Resources, correspondence from the Commissioner of Public Lands, and the records created by the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles comprise the series described in this record group. The records described in this finding aid total 224.4 cubic feet.

The Board of Land and Natural Resources Minutes and Submittals (Series 269) date from 1895 to 1990. The minutes and transmittals were transferred to the Hawai'i State Archives in various accessions between 1969 and 1994. Transfer documentation is not complete.

The records of the Commissioner of Public Lands consist of three correspondence series. The records were transferred to the State Archives in 1976.

The records of the Board of Commission to Quiet Land Titles, also referred to as the Land Commission consist of the Mahele Book, Registers, Testimonies, Patents, and Survey Notes. The Mahele Book dated 1848 was transferred to the Hawai'i State Archives on June 5, 1924 from the Commissioner of Public Lands. The Land Commission Registers, Testimonies, Awards, and Patents Upon Confirmation of Land Commission are in the custody of the State Archives (HRS 94-7), although no transfer documentation was located. The Survey Notes were transferred to the State Archives via letter dated August 27, 1974, from the Chairman of the Board of Land and Natural Resources. The records transferred do contain all of the survey notes compiled for patents and awards.

Other government records relating to public lands are inventoried in the Interior Department and Public Land finding aids which are filed in the Government Records Inventories (CD 3189.14 .H39).

This finding aid was initially produced in October 1995 and revised in June 1997 and April 1999.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

AGENCY HISTORY

The Department of Land and Natural Resources was formed from a number of existing agencies and divisions, under the Hawaii State Government Reorganization Act of 1959. The Governor's Executive Order Number 14 formally established the Department on May 11, 1960. The Department is the successor agency of the Commissioner of Public Lands, the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, Board of the Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles, and the Land Office of the Minister of the Interior. The Department is headed by the Board of Land and Natural Resources.

The Department is responsible for the administration of the State's public lands and natural resources, and manages the State's parks, historic sites, forests, forest reserves, aquatic life and aquaculture programs, aquatic life sanctuaries, public fishing areas, boating, ocean waters, ocean recreation and coastal programs, water resources, wildlife, wildlife sanctuaries, game management area, public hunting areas, natural area reserves, various land records, and holds all instruments of conveyances.

To carry out these functions, the Department is organized into several divisions, offices, and attached commissions. The organization of the Department evolves over time, and has included the following divisions: Bureau of Conveyances, Conservation and Resources Enforcement Division, Forestry and Wildlife Division (formerly Fish and Game), Aquatic Resources Division, Land Management Division, State Parks, Outdoor Recreation and Historic Sites, and Water and Land Development Division. The following offices are attached to the Office of the Chairperson of the Board: Administrative Services Office, Personnel Office, Aquaculture Development Program, and the Office of Conservation and Environmental Affairs. The following agencies are administratively attached to the Board of Land and Natural Resources: Animal Species Advisory Commission, Fish and Wildlife Advisory Commission, Hawaii Fisheries Coordinating Council, Natural Areas Reserves System Commission, and the Hawaii Aquaculture Advisory Council.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Statutory functions relating to public land management performed by the Department of Land and Natural Resources and its predecessor agencies from the Kingdom, Provisional Government, Republic, and Territory of Hawai'i are document in the records. This record group contains materials created and collected by the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles, the Minister of the Interior, the Board of Commissioners of Crown Lands, the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, the Commissioner of Public Lands, the Board of Land and Natural Resources, and the Land Management Division of the Department of Land and Natural Resources.

The records are organized in two subgroups: Board of Land and Natural Resources and the Land Management Division. Within the subgroups, the records are arranged in series by record type, ie., minutes, correspondence, registers, testimonies, awards, and patents. The original order of the records was retained. Within the series, records are arranged in chronological, numerical, or geographical order. Record copies are textual. The Land Commission records are indexed in the Indices of Awards made by the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles in the Hawaiian Islands, compiled and published by the Commissioner of Public Lands in 1929.

Board of Land and Natural Resources

The records of the Board of Land and Natural Resources (BLNR) contain minutes and submittals. Minutes are the official record of the Board proceedings and provide a summary record of decisions rendered and policies adopted by the Board in carrying out its statutory duties to manage the State's public lands. Submittals are agenda items submitted by various divisions within the Department to the Board for discussion at scheduled meetings.

Minutes for 1900 to 1910, 1956, and 1957 were not transferred to the State Archives. There are gaps in the Submittals for March 25, 1966, and December 27, 1968. Submittals dated prior to 1960 were not transferred to the State Archives.

The BLNR Submittals were processed sometime in the late 1970's or early 1980's. Informational copies of minutes were removed from submittal folders dated 1960 to 1978, presumably to lessen the volume of records. Preservation processing of the minutes and submittals in 1995 consisted of housing bound minutes in acid free containers, removing metal clasps, prongs, rubberbands, and refolding submittals from acidic manila folders to alkaline enclosures.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Land Management Division

The records of the Land Management Division consist of the Mahele Book, the records of the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles, and the correspondence of the Commissioner of Public Lands. The Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles was also known as the Land Commission.

Land Commission

The Land Commission records document a significant event in Hawaiian culture and history, the transformation from traditional royal land tenure to the foreign concept of private land ownership by individuals. The Land Commission was granted the authority to determine the individual property rights to land existing as of December 10, 1845. The records of the Land Commission consist of the Mahele Book, Registers, Testimonies, Patents, and Survey Notes.

The functions of the Land Commission to investigate and confirm or reject claims to land as of December 1845 are documented in the following six series: Land Commission Registers (Series 286), Land Commission Testimonies (Series 287), Land Commission Awards (Series 288), Patents Upon Confirmation of Land Commission (Series 289), and Survey Notes (Series 294). The process of issuing patents upon confirmation of land commission was performed by successor agencies: the Minister of the Interior, the Commissioners of Public Lands, the Commissioner of Public Lands, and the Land Management Division of the Department of Land and Natural Resources. The records date from 1846 to 1973. The bulk of the records date from 1846-1855. The Foreign Registers and Foreign Testimonies were recorded in English. The Native Registers and Native Testimonies were recorded in Hawaiian. The Land Commission Awards and Patents Upon Confirmation of Land Commission were recorded in both English and Hawaiian. Registers and Testimonies recorded in Hawaiian were translated to English by State Archives translators, Sarah Nakoa, Frances Frazier, Jack Mathews, and Larry Kauanoe Kimura.

The Registers, Testimonies, Awards, and Patents were received as bound volumes from the Land Management Division. The records were disbound and prepared for microfilming by the State Archives in 1964. The disbound documents were placed between the volume covers after microfilming. Selected disbound documents from the Foreign Register, Foreign Testimony, Native Testimony, and Award Books were deacidified and laminated at the Barrows Laboratory in Virginia. The Barrows lamination treatment is not a reversible process and its long term effect is unknown.

The Survey Notes consisting of individual awards and patents were received by the State Archives folded and enclosed in Commissioner of Public Lands stationery envelopes labeled with the award and patent numbers. During initial preservation processing, the records were taken out of the envelopes, flattened, and approximately five awards and/or patents were filed per alkaline folder.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Preservation processing in 1996-1997 consisted of housing disbound documents from the Registers, Testimonies, Awards, and Patents into archival containers. Survey Notes were refoldered with one award and/or patent per alkaline enclosure.

The mahele, or division of lands from Kamehameha III to the chiefs and the konohiki is documented in the Buke Kakau Paa no ka mahele aina i Hooholoia i waena o Kamehameha III a me Na Lii a me Na Konohiki ana, commonly referred to as the Mahele Book. The Mahele Book (Series 285) was microfilmed in 1971 and is available for research, use MFL 87. Lands divided from Kamehameha III to his chiefs and konohiki, and the government during the Mahele are published in the Session Laws of 1848, Civil Code of the Hawaiian Islands, 1859, and in the Revised Laws of Hawaii, 1905 and 1925.

The records of the Land Commission, with the exception of the Survey Notes have been microfilmed. The Registers, Testimonies, Awards, and Patents Upon Confirmation of Land Commission were microfilmed in 1964. English translations of the Native Registers and Native Testimonies were microfilmed in 1977. Although the Land Commission records have been microfilmed, the original textual records are retained for their evidential, historical, cultural, and artifactual values.

Commissioner of Public Lands

The records of the Commissioner of Public Lands consist of three series: Correspondence with the Land Subagents (Series 312), Correspondence with Government Officials (Series 313), and Correspondence with Lessees (Series 314).

The original order of the correspondence files of the Commissioner of Public Lands is uncertain. There is no transfer documentation from the Land Management Division. Upon receipt of the correspondence files to the State Archives, the records were transferred from deteriorating folders to manila folders and housed in 71 records center boxes. An SA-3 form was completed by Archives staff and signed by the State Archivist in 1976. Files dated 1912 for the Correspondence with the Land Subagents (Series 312) and Correspondence with Government Officials (Series 313) were not transferred to the State Archives. Correspondence with Lessees (Series 314) contain a very small amount of correspondence for 1912. Records maintained as 'miscellaneous routine' were disposed. Examples include: bills and invoices, budget and expenditure reports, copies of legislative bills and sections of the session laws, furniture and equipment inventories, payroll rosters, personnel leave requests, personnel contributions to charities, requests for office supplies and equipment, travel requests and reports, vehicle registration and maintenance records, and voucher reports.

The correspondence files were organized into three series to reflect the functions and activities of the Commissioner of Public Lands. Within the series, the files are arranged by geographically by land district, or alphabetically by government entity and therein chronologically.

LAND MANAGEMENT DIVISION

Administrative History

Division Name: Land Management Division

Predecessor Agencies: Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles, also referred to as the Land Commission, 1845-1855. Board of Commissioners of Crown Lands, also referred to as the Crown Lands Commission, 1865-1893. Interior Department Land Agents, 1846-1899. Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, 1895-1900. Commissioner of Public Lands, 1900-1959.

Functions:

The Division of Land Management operates under the broad policy and administrative direction of the Board of Land and Natural Resources. The Division has the responsibility for the staff work required to enable the Board to manage public lands. The main functions of the Division are the management, acquisition, disposition of public lands; and the collection and maintenance of public records and documents, such as land patents and leases issued by the Department of Land and Natural Resources. The principal activity of the Division is the disposition of public lands by sales in fee, by lease, or by revocable permit.

The Land Management Division's objective is to assure the effective and efficient use of public lands for both public and private purposes. This is achieved by developing lands according to established guidelines and policies, selling and leasing lands, issuing revocable permits, and issuing executive orders; by taking inventory of, controlling, and managing lands; and by assuring the availability of lands needed for State programs.

LAND MANAGEMENT DIVISION

Administrative History

Predecessor Agency Name: Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles, also referred to as the Land Commission.

Dates: 1845-1855.

Established:

The Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles was authorized by the second act of Kamehameha III, passed by the Hawaiian Legislature on December 10, 1845. On February 6, 1846, the Minister of the Interior in Privy Council appointed and commissioned five members to the Land Commission. On August 20, 1846, the board issued the "Principles Adopted by the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles in their Adjudication of Claims Presented to Them." The Principles were approved by the Legislature by resolution on October 26, 1846.

Function:

The Land Commission was charged with investigating and adjudicating all claims to land arising prior to December 10, 1845. The board was empowered to issue leases and awards and patents in fee simple based on claims and testimony presented. The Land Commission lacked authority to separate the interests of Kamehameha III, the chiefs, the konohiki, and native tenants to lands. The mahele, or division of lands between Kamehameha III, the chiefs, and the konohiki was authorized by the Privy Council in December 1847. The mahele is a single land transaction that commenced on January 28, 1848 and ended on March 7, 1848. The transaction is recorded in the Buke Kakau Paa no ka mahele aina i Hooholoia i waena o Kamehameha III a me Na Lii a me na Konohiki ana, commonly referred to as the Mahele Book. Two additional instruments were signed and sealed by Kamehameha III on March 8, 1848 and entered into the Mahele Book. One instrument surrendered a portion of Kamehameha III's lands to the chiefs and people and served as Kamehameha III's payment of commutation to the government. The lands conveyed by Kamehameha III to the government became known as 'government lands.' The second instrument conveyed perfect title to the remaining lands for the personal use of Kamehameha III. These lands became known as 'crown lands.'

The mahele was codified in 1848 and published in the Session Laws of 1848; Civil Code 1859; Revised Laws 1905 and Revised Laws 1925 volume 2, and the Indices of Awards Made by the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles in the Hawaiian Islands, compiled and published by the Commissioner of Public Lands in 1929.

Function:

The practice of leasing lands by His Majesty Kamehameha III predates the establishment of the Board of Commissioners of Crown Lands. The Crown Lands of the Hawaiian Kingdom were formally established after the mahele, or division of lands between Kamehameha III, the chiefs, and the konohiki. The mahele is a single land transaction that commenced on January 28, 1848 and ended on March 7, 1848. On March 8, 1848, Kamehameha III signed and sealed two instruments. One instrument surrendered a portion of Kamehameha III's lands to the chiefs and people and served as his payment of commutation to the government. The lands conveyed by Kamehameha III to the government became known as Government Lands. The second instrument conveyed perfect title to the remaining lands for the personal use of Kamehameha III. These lands became known as Crown Lands and were the private lands of Kamehameha III, his heirs, and successors. "An Act relating to the lands of His Majesty the King, and of the Government" passed on June 7, 1848 codified the mahele and the creation of Government Lands and Crown Lands. Prior to 1865, the Crown Lands were alienable, the private domain of the King, leased and sold at his will, subject only to the rights of tenants.

"An act to relieve the royal domain from encumbrances, and to render the same inalienable," approved by Kamehameha V on January 3, 1865, made the Crown Lands inalienable and placed them under the administration of the Board of Commissioners of Crown Lands. The act mandated that Crown Lands descend to the heirs and successors of the Hawaiian Crown. The act limited Crown Land lease terms to a maximum of 30 years.

The act formally established the Board of Commissioners of Crown Lands. Three persons were appointed by the King to be commissioners, two from his Cabinet Council to serve without any remuneration, and the third to serve as the Land Agent to be paid out of the revenues of leases. The Commissioners of the Crown Lands were mandated with power and authority to make good and valid leases of the Crown Lands not to exceed 30 years. The Commissioners held meetings as needed to discuss lease applications, agreements, cancellations, conditions, extensions, renewals, rents, sublets, transfers; unassigned lands; use of water for cultivation; construction of roads; and improvements made by lessees.

Article 95 of the Constitution of the Republic of Hawaii merged Crown Lands and Government Lands to create what is known as Public Lands. The Crown Lands Commission dissolved by the passage of the Land Act of 1895. The function of managing Crown Lands which later became Public Lands passed on to the following Hawaiian government agencies: Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, Commissioner of Public Lands, and the Land Management Division upon approval by the Board of Land and Natural Resources.

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF PUBLIC LANDS

Administrative History

Dates: 1895-1900

Functions:

Article 95 of the Constitution of the Republic of Hawaii merged Crown Lands and Government Lands to create Public Lands. The Land Act of 1895 created a board of commissioners of public lands to control and manage the newly created public lands. The board consisted of three commissioners, composed of the Minister of the Interior and two persons appointed by the President, with the approval of the Cabinet, one of whom was designated the Agent of Public Lands. The Agent of Public Lands was the business representative of the Commissioners, and under their direction and through the Sub-Agents, administered the affairs of the public lands. The Commissioners were represented in each land district by the Sub-Agent of Public Lands, who was appointed by the Commissioners and removable at their discretion. The appointed commissioners were subject to removal by the President with the approval of the Cabinet. Rangers of Public Lands were appointed by the Commissioners to observe and see that the provisions of the Land Act of 1895 were complied with in their respective districts and to report to the sub-agent.

The Commissioners were authorized to make general leases of public lands at public auction for any number of years, not to exceed 21 years. The Commissioners with the approval of the Cabinet were authorized to purchase lands for homestead purposes and with the consent of the Executive Council were authorized to sell public lands not under lease. The Commissioners were responsible for issuing and maintaining records of land patents, certificates of occupation, homestead leases, right of purchase lease, or freehold agreements upon approval by the President of the Republic. The duties of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands were assumed by the Commissioner of Public Lands as provided for in section 73 of the Hawaiian Organic Act of 1900.

PLANNING OFFICE

Administrative History

Dates: 1961 - 1985

Established: The Plans Office first appears in the interim organization chart of the newly created Department of Land and Natural Resources in 1961. The unit was renamed the Planning Office later that year.

Organizational Relations: A separate office reporting directly to the Board of Land and Natural Resources (BLNR).

Functions:

The Planning Office recommends objectives, policies, and broad programs to the Board of Land and Natural Resources and advises the Chairman and the Board on the development, implementation, and regulation of state policies relating to lands zoned for conservation use. Conservation lands encompass 50 percent of Hawaii's land area and include submerged lands and marine waters within the State's jurisdiction. The Office reviews land use proposals in the form of development plans, environmental impact statements, permits, infrastructure development projects and state land use district amendments to determine any adverse environmental effects and for compliance with existing state and county public land and resources management plans. The Office coordinates efforts with federal, state, and county agencies to administer regulations for conservation zoned lands. The Planning Office is responsible for processing applications for development on conservation lands, referred to as Conservation District Use Applications (CDUA). The Planning Office provides guidance to the operating divisions of the Department of Land and Natural Resources in the planning, conduct, and evaluation of departmental programs and projects. In close cooperation with operating units, the Office conducts comprehensive administrative central planning for the Department of Land and Natural Resources and systematically evaluates the department's authorized programs and prepares public reports, brochures, and press releases relating to the departmental activities.

Successor Agency:

The Planning Office was reorganized into the Office of Conservation and Environmental Affairs (OCEA) in fiscal year 1985-1986. OCEA coordinates the Department's environmental responsibilities and processes Conservation District Use Applications (CDUA).

Correspondence includes complaints to the office by agencies and citizens regarding beach erosion, pollution, and land use violations. It also includes reviews of dredging permits of submerged lands to develop and maintain harbor facilities, flood control projects, highway improvement projects, industrial discharge of wastewaters into coastal areas, seawall construction, shoreline development projects, and tourism development such as resorts and restaurants along the shoreline. Speeches on the subject of land use planning by the Chairman of the Board of Land and Natural Resources provide insight into state government's attempts to balance its policy to promote the highest and best use of public lands and resources with environmental quality, integrity of cultural sites, and lifestyle of residents in various development projects. The aerial photography folder contains a very small selection of images of Kealahou Bay on the island Hawai'i and Magic Island, Ala Moana Beach, Kapalama Military Reservation, and Sand Island in Honolulu. Additional black and white photographs are attached to correspondence throughout this series.

Established: By Act 324, SLH 1989.

Dates: July 1, 1989-.

Predecessor Agencies: Two agencies, the Historical Commission and the Historical Sites Commission, established 30 years apart, were made responsible for historic preservation. For approximately 16 years after the second agency was established, responsibility for historic preservation resided in two places until it was unified in the Department of Land and Natural Resources (DLNR) in 1967. The lineage of the two agencies is as follows:

The Historical Commission: April 18, 1921-June 30, 1932.

Board of Regents of the University of Hawaii; July 1, 1932-June 5, 1967.

Division of State Parks, (renamed Division of State Parks, Outdoor Recreation and Historic Sites effective June 30, 1969), DLNR; June 6, 1967-June 30, 1989.

The Historical Sites Commission: May 4, 1951- November 24, 1959.

Territorial/State Parks Division, Board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry/

DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Series No.: 490

Series Title: Review Files of the Historic Preservation Division

Date Range: 1951-1990

Quantity: 6.77 cubic feet in eleven 7.5-inch boxes

Creator: Collected or created by the Historic Preservation Division or its predecessors, the Division of State Parks, Outdoor Recreation and Historic Sites and the Historic Sites Commission.

Physical Characteristics/Condition: Paper records: letter-, legal- and folded oversize; manuscript; original, xerographic and carbon copy typescript; diazo; and photo prints and slides. Also includes a small quantity of published material. The records are in fair to good condition.

Content Description: Consists primarily of records created by the division and its predecessors to review and provide recommendations/concurrence on projects, leases, permits, land use changes or other entitlements which may have an effect upon an historic property. Includes a few records that are not review files, although they address historic preservation issues, such as the Lahaina Restoration project on Maui. The historic preservation reviews address: new construction projects, including condominiums, seawalls, and sewers; projects to modify, restore or demolish existing structures; environmental assessments and draft environmental impact statements; conservation district use applications; quiet title actions; special management area permits; projects and permits involving the coastal zone management program; land use district boundary and zoning changes; U.S. federal and State land dispositions; and archaeological surveys. The types of records in this series include studies, reports, notices, telegrams, maps, photographs, architectural drawings and site plans. However, the records are mostly correspondence and internal memoranda, and occasionally standard forms, such as those required by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB - federal) Directive A-95, which contain the results of mandated reviews. The results of a review could be a "no effect" finding or a finding that the proposal would or could have an impact that required mitigation on known or potential historic sites. Some reviews include attachments with background information, which puts the review in context. Some, such as the file dealing with the restoration of the Meyer Sugar Mill on Molokai, contain a review of project plans and include information on work accomplished. In other cases, the files lack attachments and the projects or properties are described only by title. In those cases, the division's findings lack context and their usefulness is diminished. Despite this shortcoming, the series is valuable for the insights it provides into the numerous agencies involved in the historic preservation review process; how application of the process in Hawaii provides protection for Hawaii's cultural heritage; and for the information it contains about numerous specific areas and properties, occasionally including controversies that are associated with them.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Date Range: 1959-1991. Bulk 1960-1972.

Quantity of Records: 1.25 cubic feet in two 7.5-inch Hollinger boxes

Creator of Records: Hawaii Water Authority and Design and Construction Branch of the Division of Water and Land Development (DOWALD). The Design and Construction Branch provided detailed designs and plans for development projects and supervised construction or other engineering activities to execute authorized projects. The branch administered construction contracts, reviewed progress reports, and inspected completed projects.

Physical Characteristics: Paper records and photographs in good condition.

Content Description: Contains selected branch project files consisting of correspondence, reports, photographs, site maps and design plans that reflect the functions of planning, engineering, construction management, and inspection. The projects include domestic water system development; preliminary subdivision preparation such as access road construction and installation of utility, sewer and water lines; road and highway improvements. These extensive public works projects demonstrated that state's efforts to support agriculture and military activities, create housing, and enhance resort development on the neighbor islands. Projects on the islands of Hawaii and Kauai comprise the bulk of the files. There are a few project files for Maui, Molokai and Oahu.

Correspondence contains letters between DOWALD and private land owners and concern negotiations to acquire land for roadways, right of entry, and appurtenant easements for water transmission lines, water tanks, and utility lines. Also contains correspondence between the division and water boards of Kauai and Hawaii counties, Hawaii Housing Authority, federal agencies, and other government agencies. The division handed over completed water systems to the local water boards for management and subdivision were turned over to the Hawaii Housing Authority.

There is a very small selection of construction site photographs of the Hanalei water system, Kokee Park cabins, and Lahaina Fort. Additional photographs are attached to correspondence and reports.

Land Commission Records, 1846-1856

(Reference: "Final report of the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles," March 31, 1855 in Minister of Interior Report, 1856.)
Includes incoming correspondence from agents of the commission, surveyors, etc., arranged by island, then alphabetically by agent's name. Many times one person held several offices. The Commission operated rather informally.

The individuals involved carried the following titles:

- Surveyors - some went to several islands; others, especially if missionaries, surveyed only in a single area.
- Sub-commissioners - often this was a courtesy title applied to any missionary residing in the district who did some work for the commission. In modern terms, he was a liaison man and general supervisor.
- Agent to take testimony - this office was sometimes combined with that of surveyor or sub-commissioner.
- Agent to deliver awards - although they were paid by the number of awards delivered, apparently not a popular job. Surveyors were often called upon to perform the office.

The records are arranged as follows:

Public Lands Commission Records

The Public Lands Commission was formed in 1895 to administer the public lands under authority of the Land Act of 1895.

The public lands were composed of what had been two separate entities, government lands and crown lands. The government lands, administered by the Minister of the Interior, were leased, sold, exchanged and used for public purposes (roads, parks, etc.). Under the Homestead Act of 1884 (implemented 1887), tracts of government land could be broken into lots for homesteading.

The crown lands had originally been the private domain of the King, leased and sold at his will, but by the Act of January 3, 1865, the legislature made them inalienable and placed them under the administration of a Board of Commissioners of Crown Lands. Around 1870, large tracts began to be leased to the sugar plantations. In 1892-1893, the Commissioner began to lease parts of the crown lands in Hawaii, especially Olan, Puna District, to homesteaders.

From the revolution of 1893 to the passage of the Constitution of 1894, crown and government lands continued as separate entities. Article 95 of the Constitution of the Republic merged crown and government lands, and the Land Act of 1895 created an agency to administer the new entity, the "public lands".

The Land Act of 1895 (Act 26, August 14, 1895) was a massive and complex reorganization of public lands administration. The Board of Commissioners of Public Lands was empowered to oversee the sale and lease of lands, except those reserved for public purposes, which remained under the jurisdiction of the Minister of the Interior. (Lands reserved for public works were later given the titles of convenience of "administrative" or "government" lands. The Organic Act put them under the jurisdiction of the superintendent of public works. Included in these lands was a group of remnants of government land in Honolulu not needed for public purposes, called "Town Lots". By an amendment to the Organic Act (1910), these were transferred into the jurisdiction of the Public Lands Commissioner.)

The Board of Commissioners consisted of three members, the Agent of Public Lands and a public member, both appointed by the executive, and the Minister of the Interior, member ex officio. Six new Land Districts were set up, each to be administered by a Sub-agent and a Ranger.

Land Districts: 1. Hawaii - Hilo, Puna
2. Hawaii - Hamakua, Kohala
3. Hawaii - Kona, Kau
4. Maui, Molokai, Lanai, Kahoolawe
5. Oahu
6. Kauai, Niihau

Six types of conveyances of public land were set up in the Act: the conventional general lease and the sale at auction, for large landholders; for homesteaders, the Homestead Lease (999 years, inalienable), Right of Purchase Lease (21 year agreement of sale), Cash Freehold (3 year agreement of sale), Settlement Association (minimum of six persons applying for land in a bloc, under a three year agreement of sale). In practice, a seventh type of conveyance, for the accommodation of homesteaders, was created by the Commission under the powers granted them under Part IV, Section 17, of the Act. This arrangement was a sale at auction on a time payment basis--part cash - part credit sale. This arrangement was known as the "Special Agreement of Sale" and later as the "Special Homestead Agreement".

The system as set up in 1895 continued with minor emendation until 1910, when an amendment to the Organic Act was passed, whose purpose was to tighten up the homesteading provision of the Land Act, as adopted into the Organic Act. As amended, the same system continued in force until the passage of the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act and the subsequent withdrawal of public lands from general homesteading (1921-1926).

The records are:

Homesteads

Homestead legislation allows people to acquire small lots of public land under easy terms, usually in order that they might gain their livelihood from the land. There may be restrictions on who may apply for lots, and certain occupation and improvement conditions usually must be met before the lot is turned over to the homesteader. There may be restrictions on the amount of acreage for which a homesteader might apply. If conditions of the agreement between the homesteader and the government are not met, the lot reverts to the government and the homesteader may be barred from applying for another lot. If conditions of the agreement are fulfilled, the lot may be taken by the homesteader in outright ownership to do with as he likes, or restrictions may continue as to his disposal of the lot.

The first homesteading legislation in Hawaii, "An Act to Facilitate the Acquiring and Settlement of Homesteads" was passed August 29, 1884. The first homestead lots were laid out at Nuuanu, Honolulu and Honokaa, Kaapahu and Paauilo, Hamakua District, Hawaii, in August of 1887. (Minister of Interior. Report, 1888 p.4.)

Under the Act's final form of 1893, (Chapter 87, Session Laws 1892) there were no restrictions upon the applicant except that he be of legal age. Lots were assigned at appraised value on a first come, first served basis, by a 10 year agreement of sale. Occupation had to be for a minimum of three years, dating from the second year of the agreement, (but a substitute could be placed upon the land with the permission of the Minister of the Interior) and the lot, if pasture, fenced within three years of the agreement's date. Rent was paid quarterly and at the end of ten years or upon payment of its full value anytime after three years (all conditions of the agreement having been met), the lot was patented to the homesteader.

Crown Lands Homesteads

In January of 1892, after the "new" Volcano to Hilo road had opened up the crown land of Olaa, Puna District, the Crown Lands Commissioners began to lease lots of land to smallholders to grow coffee and fruit. A section of Olaa was reserved for native tenants. There were two types of homesteads at Olaa, covered by two types of leases: the Settlement Lease, a "30-year lease under special conditions of improvement", and a Homestead Lease, preference for which was given to native Hawaiians, a "30-year lease under special conditions of residence and improvement". Later homestead areas were located at Waiakolea and Kaimu, Puna. Another area, at Puukapu, South Kohala, gave preference to native Hawaiians but did not require residence on the lot. A reduction of rent was given to smallholders who lived on their lots if their lease did not require them to do so. (Commissioners of Crown Lands Report, 1894.) As the Crown Lands were inalienable, they could not be patented to the homesteader. The lease of 30 years ran to the maximum limit allowable by law.

Land Act of 1895

Until the passage of the Land Act of 1895, Crown Lands homesteads were administered by the Commissioners of Crown Lands and homesteaders on government lands were looked after by agents of the Minister of the Interior.

The Land Act placed all homesteads under the jurisdiction of the Agent (after 1900, Commissioner) of Public Lands, initiated an elaborate homestead system, and made provision that holders of settlement leases at Olaa could, on meeting certain conditions, receive patents to their lots, and that holders of homestead leases at Olaa and the other Crown Lands Native Reservations could, on meeting certain conditions, convert their crown lease into one of the new types of homestead indentures: either a Certificate of Occupation for Homestead Lease; a Right of Purchase Lease, or a Freehold Agreement for a Cash Freehold.

Under the Land Act, there were several ways of acquiring a homestead. Lots of land were laid out for homesteading purposes at the discretion of the Land Commissioners, upon petition. Applicants had to be citizens of legal age, were restricted in the amount of land they could apply for and, if married, could not apply separately for different lots. The law specified four different types of homestead arrangements, and, using powers implied in the law, the Commissioners added a fifth.

Homestead Lease:

Applications were taken on a first come, first served basis. The prospective homesteader applied to the Sub-agent of his district for a Certificate of Occupation, entitling him to live on a lot for six years. The land had to be lived on, and a percentage cleared and farmed within two years of issuance of the certificate. Upon fulfillment of the conditions of the certificate, he could apply for a Homestead Lease, to run 999 years, the leasee and his successors having to continuously live on the lot, which could not be devised away from the leasee except by exchange with another leasee (by permission), or if the conditions were not met and the land reverted to the government.

Right of Purchase Lease:

Applications were taken on a first come first served basis, and the successful applicant paid the equivalent of six months rent upon receiving his lease. Rent was due twice a year, the lease running for 21 years. From the second to the fifth year of the lease, the leasee had to live on the lot, and before the third year a percentage of the land had to be cleared and farmed. The lease could be assigned or mortgaged, with permission. Anytime after the third year of the lease, all conditions having been met and the balance of the assessed value paid up, the lot could be patented to the homesteader.

Cash Freehold:

Cash Freehold lots were sold at auction on a part cash, part credit three year agreement of sale, called a Freehold Agreement. The holder of the Agreement had to live continuously on his lot, have a percentage of it cleared and cultivated, and have paid off his balance by the end of three years. The Agreement could be assigned or mortgaged, with permission. At the end of three years, all conditions having been met, the land was patented to the Freeholder.

Settlement Association:

Six or more persons could apply for Freehold Agreements to lots with common boundaries, en bloc.

Special Homestead Agreement:

Part IV, section 17, of the Land Act gave the Commissioners the authority to sell small lots of land on time payment, terms to be arranged at their discretion, upon approval of the Executive. As the Cash Freehold system was perceived by the public as having no practical advantage over the Right of Purchase Lease, the need was felt to provide a substitute. The substitute, called a "Special Agreement" was essentially a Freehold Agreement without the residency requirement. (Commissioner's Report 1896/1897.)

Its descendant, the 1910 "Special Homestead Agreement" gave the following terms: ten year agreement of sale, residence required for five years, a percentage of the land to be cultivated by so many years (terms open). Anytime after five years, conditions having been filled and the balance paid off, the land could be patented. (Information Relative to Opening of Public Lands Under Notice August 9, 1910. Form 2, p. 11-12.)

The system of administration of public lands as outlined in 1895 Land Act continued in force with minor emendations until the passage of amendments to the Organic Act (May 27, 1910). The changes in the Act as applied to homesteaders were: no one holding over 80 acres of land could apply for public lands; aliens who took lands had to become U.S. citizens within 5 years; all assignments or transfers of patented land had to approved by the Commissioner of Public Lands and the Governor of the Territory; sale at auction was replaced by lottery after public notice; unless he was an original leasee, any citizen who had occupied and improved a parcel of Public Lands since April 30, 1900 had option to a Preference Right of Purchase Lease; on application of a minimum of 25 persons, land could be opened for settlement. In addition, the Commissioner was directed to open a "reasonable amount" of public lands for homestead by January 1, 1911, and continue to do so annually thereafter, the area of each lot not to exceed 80 acres. (Section ~~92~~⁷³, Organic Act, amended by Act of May 27, 1910, full text as amended in Organic Act, Laws of the Territory of Hawaii 1911.)

The records on homesteads span 1887-1911 and include statistics, survey reports, appraisals, applications, correspondence, petitions, leases and agreements of sale, applications for patents, ranger's reports on fulfillment of conditions. Interior Department Homesteading records are included.

Fragile Documents

LAND RECORDS

Records concerning land have been transferred to the Archives at various times, and from various sources. While some may have a common origin, they have been separated by various agencies while in use and it would be difficult to recreate the original files. Therefore, they have been kept in separate series. It is hoped that the descriptions which follow will assist the researcher in finding the desired information.

I. INTERIOR DEPARTMENT - LAND FILE, 1830-1900

Incoming correspondence concerning land matters addressed to the King and his advisors before the Interior Department was organized (1845) and to the Minister of the Interior up to June 1900. Replies are in the Interior Department Letter Books or with the letter received. Also includes miscellaneous documents and reports concerning land matters. These records are indexed in the Land Index (card file) under the name of the land and under the name of any person named in the documents. The records are arranged chronologically or by document number if undated.

II. RECORDS OF ORIGINAL LAND TITLES

1. Mahele Book

This is the record of the division of land between the king, the chiefs and the government. Lands are listed by name only. Under the name of the chief or konohiki is a list of the lands he released to the king and the lands the king released to the chief. Index by name of chiefs in back of book. A companion volume lists names of lands for each island, by district and the name of chief receiving land.

Microfilm copy at the State Archives and Department of Land and Natural Resources (Land Management Division) for research; at Bureau of Conveyances for copies. There is also a handwritten copy at the Archives. The original is in the Archives' safe and is to be used only with the permission of the State Archivist.

2. Land Commission Awards

Official copies of the Awards made after the Mahele. Arrangement is by the date the claim was processed. Indices of Awards gives the volume and page number. Microfilm copies are at the State Archives and the Department of Land and Natural Resources (Land Management and Conveyances). Originals are in the Archives but have been withdrawn from use.

3. Foreign Register and Testimony

The Register is a copy of the original claim and any supporting documentation. The Testimony is the oral evidence given to backup the claim. A paper copy from the microfilm is available at the Archives, as well as a microfilm. Microfilm copies are also at the Department of Land and Natural Resources. An annotated copy of the Indices of Awards at the Archives gives volume and page reference under the LCA number. "Foreign" testimony means it is in English and does not refer to the claimant or person testifying.

4. Native Register and Testimony

Microfilm copies at the Archives and Department of Land and Natural Resources. A translation has been made and a typed copy is available at the Archives. The annotated copy of the Indices gives volume and page number. The indices are in the Archives reference room.

5. Royal Patent Document File

Contains various documents, usually original survey and record of commutation paid; in some cases also has correspondence concerning the claim and patent. Filed by RP number when claim was granted; by LCA number for claims not granted.

6. Patents on Awards (RP)

Microfilm at the Department of Land and Natural Resources. Originals at the Archives but not available for use.

III. LAND RECORD BOOKS

At various times, record books concerning land transactions of the Land Commission, Crown Land Commission and the Public Lands Commissioner have been transferred to the Archives. See: "Public Land Records" Finding Aid for a list of volumes.

IV. PUBLIC LANDS RECORDS

In 1976, additional miscellaneous land records were transferred from the Department of Land and Natural Resources. These cover a wide range of land matters for the years 1843 to 1910 (a few later). They include records of the Board of Commissioners to Quiet Land Titles (Land Commission), Interior Department Land Matters, Crown Lands Commission and the Public Lands Commission. See: "Public Land Records" Finding Aid for a list of folders.

V. COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC LANDS

Also transferred in 1976 were records under the control of the Land Management Division, Department of Land and Natural Resources. This was the correspondence of the Commissioner of Public Lands, 1903 to 1945.

For list, see Public Lands: Container List

VI. LAND BOARD

Minutes of the Land Board for 1910-1969 and Board Submittals for 1960-1972 are in the Vault.

VII. BOUNDARY COMMISSIONS RECORDS

Microfilm copies of the bound volumes are at the Department of Land and Natural Resources (Land Management and Conveyances) and the State Archives. Originals are at the Archives, but have been withdrawn from use.
