GEORGE EDWARD GRESLEY JACKSON (d. 1907)

Captain George Edward Gresley, a former officer in the British Navy, was experienced in hydrographical surveying when he was hired, by contract, with the Interior Department early in 1882, to survey sixteen harbors of the Hawaiian Kingdom.

In 1877-1879, Captain Jackson commanded the Hawaiian brig Storm Bird, on several labor-recruiting expeditions to Rotuma, the Gilberts and the Marshall Islands. In 1887-1888, he commanded the H. M.S. Kaimiloa on its abortive trip to Samoa and back to Honolulu.

He died March 25, 1907 in San Francisco.
