

LABOR'S POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE

In July 1944, representatives of the A.F.L.C.I.O. and independent unions in Hawaii formed the Labor's Political Action Committee, which had no connection with the C.I.O./P.A.C. on the mainland. The Committee here was to "...work for enactment of progressive legislation..." and was to be supported by voluntary contributions. This coalition presumably lived only through the 1944 elections of October 2nd and November 7th.

Dr. Tai Heung Kong Li (1875-1951)

Introduction

The records of Dr. Tai Heung Kong Li consist of four volumes of information Dr. Li recorded concerning the births she attended between 1907 and 1938. She recorded information in both Chinese and English. Dr. Elizabeth K.S. Li, her daughter, gave these records to the Archives on June 15, 1981. They are unrestricted and consist of 4.5 linear inches.

Biography

Dr. Tai Heung Kong Li (c. April 25, 1875-August 11, 1951; married name Li, maiden name Kong; she used her maiden name as her professional name, a common Chinese custom), a physician of long-standing on Oahu, residing there from 1896-1950, was called the first Chinese woman to practice Western medicine in Hawaii by her biographer in Notable Women of Hawaii.

C.1875 Born in Kwangtung Province, South China.

1896 Emigrated to Hawaii after receiving medical degree from Canton Hospital Medical School; married Dr. Khai-fai Li, also a graduate, the same year. Dr. Li and her husband arrived in Honolulu after a ten day sea voyage.

1896 Dr. Li and her husband received their medical licenses from the Republic of Hawaii and opened an office on River Street in Honolulu in November. Dr. Li thus began her forty-five year residence in the Liliha area of Honolulu, close to the Chinatown district of that city. Later she and her husband opened an office at 25 S. Kukui St. She practiced obstetrical medicine in all parts of Honolulu, and as far away as Waianae and Waimanalo. According to Irma Tam Soong, her biographer, she delivered more than 6000 babies, walking, riding in a buggy and driving to the houses of her patients.

1950 Dr. Li gave up the practice of medicine shortly before her death.

1951 Died.

During her life, Dr. Li attended the First Chinese Church of Christ and held, in addition, a long series of civic posts, including serving as chairman of several charitable organizations. By her seventies she was a highly respected figure in Honolulu.

Scope And Content Note

These records individually date and otherwise document the births Dr. Li attended and the accompanying medical procedures she performed. They cover thirty one years of her fifty-four year medical career. For some births she entered the charge, so she may have intended these to constitute a billing record.

The researcher may use these records as a good source on Dr. Li's medical practice, as they contain dates, locations and other data; he or she may also use them as a source of general obstetrical information of the time because they contain approximately 1250 pages of data on births, including infant mortality, premature births and survival rates, etc. The genealogist would find these records of interest because Dr. Li provided the exact day of the child's birth, which would assist a person where he or she had only a delayed birth certificate or where none exists at all. They record birth data from a completely reliable source, although the researcher would need to know the approximate year of birth, and the name of the parents of the child before he or she could use them.

Series Description

REGISTER OF BIRTHS, 1907-1938, 4 volumes, 4.5 linear inches.

Arranged chronologically.

Includes medical data on each birth, such as medical complications and procedures, in recurring Chinese phraseology (i.e., apparently technical terms), and, in English, the name and location of the responsible adult, male or female, to whom a bill could be presented. Some entries retroactively inserted back to 1896. Dr. Li inserted information on her own family, such as birth and school graduation dates of her children, on the last few pages of volume one.

Collection of Papers, Account Books, and Ledgers 9 linear feet

The Queen Liliuokalani Collection consists of three subgroups of materials accessioned at different times from several different sources. Subgroup I represents the Archives artificial arrangement of numbered documents primarily of Liliuokalani's correspondence. Subgroup II also includes her correspondence, accounts, and ledgers. In addition, it includes the private papers of the Dominis family: Captain John Dominis, his wife Mary, and son John Owen Dominis. Subgroup III consists of documents "seized" by Albert F. Judd on January 16, 1895 after the Queen was arrested. Judd inventoried and numbered the documents.

Materials in subgroup I were assigned item numbers 1 - 589. The individual item number cards have been withdrawn from use. Descriptions of the numbered items have been word-processed and appear as pages C-1 through C-20. A subject index on cards was also produced and is filed in card index B. Letters from Kaiulani to Liliuokalani were numbered item 256 and are filed in folders 47a and 47b.

Over the years the Archives staff rearranged some of the documents, moving documents from subgroup I to subgroup II. Whenever feasible, the numbered items were refiled back into sub-group I.

Subgroup II reflects a generally more modern archival arrangement by provenance and broad series arrangement. It consists mostly of Liliuokalani's correspondence and includes letters received (1883-1917), letters sent (1897-1904), music manuscripts, invitations, and calling cards. It includes Captain John Dominis' correspondence (1831-1845) and accounts (1827-1847), his wife Mary's correspondence (n.d., 1847-1888), and son John Owen Dominis's letters received (n.d., 1844-1891). It includes letters from Liliuokalani, Kamehameha IV and Kamehameha V. Refer to container list pages C-21 through C-23.

Subgroup III consists of papers/documents found in Liliuokalani's safe and writing desk by A.F. Judd on Wednesday, January 16, 1895, between 12 and 4:20pm. This group of papers are often referred to as the "seized" documents. Judd's numbered list of these papers and documents are on pages C-25 to C-45. To prevent confusion with the numbered documents in subgroup I, an "S" precedes Judd's numeric scheme.

*Five of Liliuokalani's diaries for the period 1887, 1888, 1888-1889, 1893, 1894 were among the seized documents. The State Archives has the following original diaries which have been withdrawn for preservation purposes, but transcripts or photocopies as listed are available for reference use.

QUEEN LILIUOKALANI SCHOOL CORNERSTONE 1912

On April 12, 1912, Queen Liliuokalani laid the cornerstone for the school in Kaimuki that was named in her honor. She contributed several items which were sealed in a copper box and embedded in the cornerstone.

In 1971, the original building of Liliuokalani School was torn down. On July 22, the contents of the cornerstone were removed. In addition to the items listed below, an autographed photograph of Queen Liliuokalani was removed from the copper box. The photograph was kept by the school and its current whereabouts is unknown.

Other contents of the box were placed there in 1912 by members of the Waialae, Kaimuki and Palolo Improvement Club, who were supporters of the new school in their community.

LOCH VIEW CEMETERY (M-482)

Introduction

The records of Loch View Cemetery, also called Pearl City Cemetery, document the operation of the cemetery from 1901-1937 under the control of Hawaiian Cemetery Association, Ltd. The records consist of transportation permits for deceased persons and burial permits, both issued by the Board of Health. The records consist of 2.8 linear feet. The Oahu Railway and Land Co. gave the records to the Hawaii State Archives on August 28, 1961. There are no restrictions.

Agency History

Loch View Cemetery was founded by the Hawaiian Cemetery Association, Ltd. on December 22, 1900, and burials began in January, 1901 at Remond Grove, Pearl City, Oahu on approximately 17 acres of land. The name "Loch View" appears on these records only in July, 1903, and continued in use until ca. 1937. Prior to that time the cemetery was called Pearl City Cemetery.

The cemetery started with separate sections for Protestants, Catholics, Japanese, Chinese and Fraternal Societies.

Loch View Cemetery fell into disuse ca. 1930, and in October, 1934, it lost its right to operate as a cemetery (i.e., to use the land for burials) under its agreement with Oahu Railway and Land Co., from whom it first bought the land in December, 1900.

Scope and Content

The records of Loch View Cemetery document the burials in that cemetery by the Hawaiian Cemetery Association, Ltd. from 1901-1930, the period of its major use, and disinterments from 1901-1937. The records contain two series: Burial Permits and Disinterment Permits, placed in the collection in that order.

The strength of the collection comes from its long series of Burial Permits, covering 1901-1920. This series contains gaps, however, in Burial Permits at January-December, 1902; October, 1914; and March, 1920-February, 1929. There are occasional gaps of between 1 to 5 Burial Permits and Removal Permits at other points in the series.

Series Descriptions

1. Certificates for Burial, Burial Permits and Removal Permits (1901, 1903-1920), 1929-1930 2.8 linear feet

Certificates and Burial Permits arranged in numerical order, Removal Permits interfiled by person's name.

Documents the burial of persons in Loch View Cemetery from 1901 to 1930. Contains Certificates for Burial (1901-1911), Burial Permits (1911-1930), and Removal Permits, all issued by an agent of the Board of Health and maintained by the cemetery. Also contains a plot map of burials for March-June, 1929.

The Certificates for Burial and Burial Permits are identical documents, one superseding the other in 1911. They contain the name of deceased, date of issue, name of cemetery, and annotations by cemetery personnel for section and plot number of burial. The Removal Permits (permission to transport deceased from place of death) contain name of deceased, age, date of death, place of death, cause of death, physician's signature, and the name of the cemetery of destination. The Certificates and

LOCH VIEW CEMETERY
M-482

Burial Permits appear to have been misnumbered in April, 1911 and May, 1912, and the Removal Permits in March, 1905, creating apparent but non-existent gaps in the series. There are almost no Removal Permits for 1908-1930.

See Index to Burial Records of Loch View Cemetery, 1901-1937 (Library call no. RA 629 .A4 H333 1991).

2. Disinterment Permits (1901-1908)-1937 0.05 linear inches
Arranged alphabetically by name.

Documents disinterments by Loch View personnel from 1901-1937. Contains permits issued by the registrar of vital statistics, Board of Health, to the cemetery for disinterment of remains. Permits contain name of the cemetery, name of deceased, age, sex, race, date of death and cause of death.

See Index to Burial Records of Loch View Cemetery, 1901-1937 (Library call no. RA 629 .A4 H333 1991).
