M-489 PACIFIC BASIN DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

INTRODUCTION

The Pacific Basin Development Council (PBDC) was founded in 1980 as a regional development agency. It is a Hawaii not-for-profit corporation, organized for charitable, literary and educational purposes under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. It is concerned with coordinating the economic development of the Pacific islands, and primarily the Territory of American Samoa, the Territory of Guam, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands and the State of Hawaii, whose governors make up the PBDC Board of Directors. Accessioned in 1995, the collection consists of samples of the general files of the PBDC dated 1980-1992.

Access is unrestricted.

ADMINISTRATIVE HISTORY

Established: As a Hawaii non-profit corporation. Its officers are the governors of American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI), Guam and Hawaii.

Dates: February 21, 1980-[present].

Predecessor Agencies: There were two predecessor agencies:

Pacific Islands Development Commission (PIDC), a Hawaii non-profit corporation, was established on June 24, 1971. Its purpose was "to engage in economic development programs which [were] mutually beneficial to the Pacific territories and Hawaii, including development of fisheries resources in the central and western Pacific. The PIDC's corporate officers were the chief executives of American Samoa, Guam, Hawaii and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (TTPI). Its Executive Director was the Head, Economic Development Division, Department of Planning and Economic Development, State of Hawaii." The Commission was dissolved on November 25, 1983. Its assets and program responsibilities, reduced to apply only to "American Flag Pacific Islands" were transferred to the PBDC.

Pacific Islands Tourism Development Council (PITDC), a Hawaii non-profit corporation, was established on August 11, 1976. Its purpose was "to develop through cooperation the tourism industries of the islands of the Pacific and by doing so to improve transportation to and between [those] island areas." The PITDC had five corporate officers, selected from the governments of American Samoa, the Cook Islands, Fiji, Guam, Hawaii, Nauru, Papua New Guinea, Tahiti, Tonga, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands ("Micronesia") and Western Samoa. Its Executive Director was the Head, Economic Development Division, Department of Planning and Economic Development, State of Hawaii. Although a separate corporate entity, in practice it was subordinate to the PIDC. The PITDC was dissolved on November 8, 1983. Its assets and program responsibilities, insofar as they applied to "American Flag Pacific Islands," were transferred to the PBDC. Non-American assets were returned to their original owners.

M-489 PACIFIC BASIN DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

Organizational Relations: As a regional economic planning and coordination organization, the PBDC has close working relationships with numerous and varied agencies of the four member governments, of the U.S. federal government and with other corporate entities, such as the South Pacific Conference, the Micronesian Regional Tourism Conference, the Pacific Fisheries Development Foundation and the Western Pacific Regional Fisheries Management Council ("WesPac"). It receives dues from member governments as well as monies from consultant contracts and government and private grants.

Functions: Per its charter, the PBDC was "organized exclusively" to:

- Identify and assess development needs of the Pacific Islands, and specifically of the PBDC members;
- Examine various regional development strategies;
- Promote cooperation in providing for the comprehensive economic and social development of the Pacific Islands;
- Promote collective action, in cooperation with the Federal government, to enhance the quality of life in the Pacific Islands;
- Address socio-economic and other needs of the Pacific region.

M-489 PACIFIC BASIN DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

Series Description

Date Range: 1980-1992

Quantity: 3.06 cubic feet in five 7.5-inch boxes

Creator: Created or collected by the Executive Director and staff of the Pacific Basin Development Council (PBDC)

Physical Characteristics/Condition: Almost entirely paper records: notepad, letter- and legal-size original and copy manuscript and typescript leaves, and a small quantity of published material. Includes a few photographs. The materials are in good condition.

Content Description: Consists of sampled general files of the PBDC: mostly correspondence, including telegrams. Also includes action and briefing memoranda of the Council's Executive Director and staff; memoranda of understanding; conference agendas; press releases; issue papers; audit, project and trip reports; questionnaires; texts of addresses presented at various forums; grant applications; proposals and requests for proposals; contracts; invoices; purchase orders for materiel and services; maps; tabulated data and statistics; and copies of minutes of a few meetings of the PBDC Board of Directors. Provides examples of the policies, processes and products of the PBDC. Includes information on its organization, functions and the work it did, from coordination of projects, through application for grants and administration of contracts to publication of its own studies. The collection deals with diverse issues, including brown tree snake management; fruit fly eradication; Samoan housing standards; training of civil servants in U.S. Pacific territories and of diplomatic and consular officials in the Freely Associated States; tourism; essential air service; transportation infrastructure; energy and power generation; health care needs of Pacific Islanders; education, including teacher education; fisheries development; and global warming and sea-level rise. In working on such issues, the PBDC normally dealt with many agencies and individuals, often over a span of several years. Therefore, materials dealing with a single issue may be spread among several file folders.

Arrangement: Chronological by year and thereunder by agency, organization or individual with which or whom PBDC was in correspondence, as follows:

Pacific basin government agencies assisted by PBDC

Governments agencies of PBDC members in the following order:

Hawaii;

American Samoa;

Guam;

Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands;

Government agencies of the Freely Associated States (Federated States of Micronesia, Republic of the Marshall Islands and Republic of Palau);

U.S. Federal government agencies;

Other agencies, organizations and individuals

Records within individual file folders are in chronological order.

Series Description

- Notes:
1. In addition to general files, the records of the PBDC include original minutes and "governors files," which were not transferred to the Archives, although the collection includes copies found in the general files of some minutes and of some materials addressed to the PBDC governors.
 2. The files include groups of records that consist of a "primary" document as well as related backup or reference materials of several different earlier dates. Such groups are filed by the date of the primary document.
 3. Many documents had addressees in each of the four members of the PBDC. Only one copy was retained, in the appropriate "Hawaii" file.
 4. Many documents had numerous "Copy to" addressees, for which there were file copies. Normally, the "To" file copy was retained and "Copy to" file copies were discarded. Where the "To" copy was not located, a "Copy to" was retained and filed where the "To" copy would have been.
 5. Facsimile materials on non-permanent media were copied during processing onto alkaline paper.

For Additional Information See: The on-line catalog (<http://uhmanoa.lib.hawaii.edu>) of the University of Hawaii for publications of the PBDC.

Access: Unrestricted.

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Company, 1890-1956
M-476

Introduction

The records of the Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Company document the management and direction of the company from inception in 1890 to 1956. The records consist primarily of the minutes, correspondence and annual reports of the board of directors through three name changes (North Pacific Phosphate and Fertilizer Co., Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co., and Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.) and the acquisition or incorporation of two other companies (Hawaiian Fertilizer Co. and Pacific Guano Co.). The records comprise 6.3 linear feet. Mr. R.O. Smith, President of Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co., gave these records to the Hawaii State Archives without restrictions on October 6, 1964.

Agency History

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co. started corporate life as the North Pacific Phosphate and Fertilizer Co. in 1890, changed its name in 1894 to Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co., and finally to Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co. in 1944. Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. (1894-1944) bought out Hawaiian Fertilizer Co. in 1922 and incorporated its own northern California operations as Pacific Guano Co. in 1935.

The detailed corporate history follows:

- 1890-Chartered, May 23, for 50 years, as North Pacific Phosphate and Fertilizer Co. with headquarters at Honolulu, mining guano on Layson Island on a lease from the Hawaiian government to sell to the Hawaiian and Pacific Islands markets.
- 1894-Reorganized as Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. to manufacture fertilizer at Honolulu.
 - Established first plant for mixing fertilizer in Kalihi.
- 1897-Established second plant at Iwilei.
- 1905-Purchased N. Ohlandt Co., a fertilizer factory, at San Francisco in order to expand sales to the northern California market, April 10.
- 1907-Established new factory in West Berkeley, Calif., January.
 - Purchased half interest in a superphosphate factory at Los Angeles owned by Stauffer Chemical Co. in order to obtain a supply of phosphates for Hawaiian market; jointly

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.

- incorporated new company as Union Superphosphate Co.,
February 27.
- 1912-Leased whole plant and property of Union Phosphate Co. for five years, October 1.
- 1922-Purchased Hawaiian Fertilizer Co. of Honolulu, PG&F's major Hawaiian islands manufacturing competitor, March 22; acquired Geo. H. Croley Co. of San Francisco in deal with Hawaiian Fertilizer. Croley manufactured poultry feed.
- 1925-Established new Iwilei plant, December.
- 1927-Established Hilo factory, October.
- 1931-Established Kahului, Maui plant, May 1.
- 1933-Closed Geo. H. Croley Co., California, previously owned by Hawaiian Fertilizer Co.
- 1935-Sold Union Superphosphate Co. back to Stauffer Chemical Co. in Los Angeles; incorporated northern California manufacturing operations as Pacific Guano Co., a wholly owned subsidiary, June 30, under California law.
- 1944-Renamed company Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co., with manufacturing center and headquarters at Honolulu; amended Articles of Association to engage in manufacture of phosphates and fertilizers, April 30.

Scope and Content Note

The records of the Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co. span the years 1890-1956 and are in fact the records of five separate companies. These companies, the North Pacific Phosphate and Fertilizer Co., the Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co., the Hawaiian Fertilizer Co., the Pacific Guano Co., and the Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co., were predecessor, subsidiary or acquisitions of Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co. The records of each of these five companies comprise five of the series within this collection. A sixth series comprises the printed material of the collection, including mainly annual reports.

All five companies manufactured and sold a similar product, and the records of each company, which are similar to each other, document the decision making of their respective boards of directors. The records consist of minutes of the board meetings, agendas for the meetings with supplemental material, and the annual reports of the boards of directors.

The minutes of each company include the motions and resolutions of the regular meetings of the boards. The agendas and supplemental material, including interim correspondence between officers of the board and the general manager, were items presented to the boards of directors for consideration at their regular meetings. The annual reports, presented to the board by the general manager, provided the basis for the boards' decision of whether or not to declare dividends.

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.

The collection includes only a portion of the management records of the companies. Notable gaps in the companies' minutes are: Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co., missing 1914-1921 and 1933-1937; Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co., missing 1946-1956. The correspondence books begin in 1918 and there are no annual reports after 1946.

When processed, the minute books and agenda books of each company were unbound, rearranged from reverse chronological order to chronological order, and their contents cleaned and placed in folders because of termite damage to the original paste-in style stub books. All printed material, including printed annual reports and a public relations history of the Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co., was placed in a separate series at the end of the collection. The six series of the collection were arranged by company name, by the order of their incorporation, succession or acquisition by Pacific Chemical and its predecessors, and all subseries are in chronological order.

Series Descriptions1. Records of the North Pacific Phosphate and Fertilizer Company. 1890-1905. 1.25 linear inches.

Two subseries, each arranged chronologically.

Documents the control and direction of the company. Includes the minutes of the board of directors and a representative share certificate book.

Minute Book. 1890-1905. 0.5 linear inches (1 volume).

Documents management of the company by the board of directors from incorporation in 1890 to reorganization as Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. in 1894. Contains minutes, correspondence and reports of meetings of the board of directors of NPP&F consisting mainly of instructions to the manager of the company on Laysan Island, and minutes of the annual meetings of the shareholders. Subjects of board minutes include motions, resolutions and votes instructing the manager on mining procedures, shipping, and mixing and selling phosphates and guano for the Hawaiian market. Contains information on relations of the company with the Hackfeld agency, on ship leasing and operations, mining operations, company personnel and labor requirements, and customer relations. Articles of incorporation, by-laws, names of board members and officers of the company contained in the various minutes of the Board meetings; names of shareholders contained in minutes of annual meetings. See also the annual reports for the Laysan Island mining and manufacturing site for 1890-1908 in the annual reports of the factories for Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. (series #2)

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.

Share Certificate Book. 1890-1894. 0.75 linear inch (1 volume).

Documents part of the stock ownership of company. Contains a record of share issues kept by secretary of company to verify stock ownership and voting rights for the annual shareholder meetings. Contains stub entries with share purchaser's name, date of purchase, par value, cash price and date of reissue, if any. For full ownership of company by name after 1894, see lists of shareholders incorporated into minutes of annual shareholders in minute book (subseries #1, above).

2. Records of the Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Company. 1905-1946. 3.04 linear feet.

Six subseries, each arranged chronologically.

Documents the management of the company by the board of directors. Includes Minute books of the board of directors, Agenda material, including correspondence, typescript annual reports, separately filed Honolulu and California factory annual reports, Price Letters to major customers for 1932-1933, and the Appraiser's summary and invoice of 1919-1920 assessing the market value of the assets of Hawaiian Fertilizer Co. before its purchase by Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. See also series #6, Printed Material, for the printed annual reports to the shareholders.

Minute Books. 1905-1944. 5 linear inches.
Arranged in chronological order.

Document transactions of the quarterly meetings of the board of directors and of the annual meetings of the shareholders of the company, and consist of instructions for the guidance and direction of the general manager in the manufacture of fertilizer, the chief business of the company.

Transactions include decisions on such matters as prices to pay, quantities and sources of raw materials; capital expenditures on plant, equipment, machinery, land and other manufacturing assets; changes in company organization, personnel and location; sales pricing policy; salaries, wages, bonuses and pensions; and many other general management decisions. Includes also decisions of the board relating to stock dividends; and for the shareholders' meetings, decisions relating to amending the by-laws and the articles of incorporation, and issuing new stock. Gaps in the minutes between 1914-1921 and 1933-1937.

Stockholders' names in annual meeting minutes; employee names, titles and rates of compensation usually in minutes of last quarterly meeting of the board for the year.

Agenda Books. 1918-1944. 1.5 linear feet.
Arranged chronologically by Board meeting dates.

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.

Agendas and supplemental material presented to the board of directors at their regular meetings. Includes managers' reports, correspondence, financial statements and other documents presented to the board for their consideration.

Annual Reports. 1895-1946. 4 linear inches (4 volumes).
Arranged chronologically.

Document the annual financial performance of the company in terms of the annual increase or decrease of profits and net asset value per share. The report documents the increase in net asset value through an item by item accounting of annual expenditures on plant and equipment (called "permanent improvements") for the manufacture of fertilizer. Such items include machinery, new warehouses, extensions of property to increase efficiency, and new office space. The treasurer's report, part of the annual report, includes consolidated and separate factory balance sheets and profit and loss statements, as well as item by item accounting of materials consumed in the factories, and item by item sales to named customers by weight and value.

The manager sometimes presented these reports to the board of directors unaudited, after which they were abridged and printed for the annual meeting of the shareholders.

See also minute books and correspondence books for information on management decisions of the board of directors.

Factory Annual Reports. 1890-1926. 2.25 linear inches.
Two subseries, arranged chronologically.

Hawaii Plants. 1895-1926.

Documents the annual management results factory by factory. Contains annual balance sheet, profit and loss statement, operating expenditures, inventory on hand, and materials consumed figures for Hawaii plants in Iwilei, Kahului and Hilo.

Mainland and Overseas Plants. 1890-1922.

Contains same annual information as under "Hawaii Plants," above, for California and other plants, especially for Union Superphosphate Co. of Los Angeles, and the Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. West Berkeley and Stege, California plants.

Fertilizer Price Letters. 1932-1933. 1 linear inch (1 volume).

Arranged in reverse chronological order, usually quarterly.

Documents the corporation's efforts to establish fixed quarterly price schedule information for its customers. The company started to calculate its sales prices in 1932 on the basis of cost plus a fixed profit per ton for its "in-house" customers, i.e., those who owned its stock.

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.

Each letter contains a list of the product names, a chemical analysis of their nitrogen, phosphate or potassium content (i.e., their primary fertilizing qualities), a sales price per ton figure, and an overhead per ton figure.

See also the Territory of Hawaii Legislature Session Law of 1932 for new territorial tax policy on corporations relating to this decision.

Appraiser's Summaries and Invoices. 1919. 1921. 6.25 linear inch (4 volumes).

Arranged in volumes, summary first, then detailed inventories.

Appraiser's report of the value of the assets of Hawaiian Fertilizer Company. Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. acquired it in 1922. Contains a detailed item by item inventory of Hawaiian Fertilizer's manufacturing plant and equipment, including mixing machinery, buildings, fixtures, and vehicles.

3. Records of Hawaiian Fertilizer Company. 1898-1922. 2 linear feet.

Four subseries, each arranged chronologically.

Documents the control and direction of the company by the board of directors. Contains minutes, correspondence and consolidated annual reports to the board of directors and shareholders. Also contains a separate collection of the annual reports of the San Francisco factory.

Minute Books. 1898-1922. 8.5 linear inches.
Arranged chronologically.

Documents the transactions of the meetings of the board of directors and of the annual shareholders' meetings from 1898 to purchase of company by Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Co. in 1922. Contains motions, resolutions and votes of board on matters relating to the manufacture of fertilizer, directors names, officers' names, names of shareholders with number of shares each held. Gap of two years for 1909-1910. Subjects of board meetings include appointment of general manager; raw materials and supplies purchasing policy; changes in organization and personnel; wages, salaries, bonuses and pensions for employees by name; capital expenditures for plant and equipment and for warehouses; and votes on quarterly or semi-annual dividends. Subjects of stockholders' meetings include votes to increase capital stock, elect the directors, appoint the auditor, adopt new by-laws, and amend the articles of incorporation.

Agenda Book. 1909-1914 (1918). 3.25 linear inches (1 volume).

Arranged chronologically by Board meeting dates.

M-476

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.

Documents much of the background of issues presented to Board of Directors for consideration during regular meetings. Contains agendas, manager's reports, correspondence, financial statements and other documents assembled by the secretary for presentation to the regular Board meeting. Much of the material relates to decisions taken between Board meetings by the general manager.

Annual Reports. 1900-1922. 10.75 linear inches.
Arranged chronologically.

Documents annual financial performance of the company. Contains typescript manager's reports of the annual increase or decrease in profits and net asset value per share, and treasurer's financial report containing balance sheet and profit and loss statements. Sometimes unaudited. Manager's report contains section on "permanent improvements", listing machinery and other additions to the manufacturing capacity of the company by type and value. Also contains table of product lines sold to customers by name of customer, weight and dollar value. Missing report for 1915.

Annual Reports of San Francisco Branch. 1918-1921. 1.75 linear inches.
Arranged chronologically.

Documents year-end financial performance of the branch. Contains more detailed financial information than the manager's consolidated annual reports for the whole company. Report includes information on profits and increase of net assets of San Francisco branch, and annual treasurer's report. Sometimes unaudited.

4. Minute Books of the Pacific Guano Company. 1935-1948. 1.25 linear inches.
Arranged chronologically.

Documents the transactions of meetings of the board of directors of Pacific Guano Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer. Pacific Guano's board met in San Francisco on a quarterly basis, but Pacific Chemical was its sole owner. These copies probably sent by the PC&F northern California manager, who held the proxy to vote all the shares of PC&F in Pacific Guano.

5. Records of Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co. 1944-1956. 10.9 linear inches.

Three subseries, each arranged chronologically.

Documents the control and direction of the company by the board of directors. Contains minute books, correspondence and the manager's monthly reports to the board of directors, and a descriptive brochure on the company for 1948.

M-476

Pacific Chemical and Fertilizer Co.

Minutes. 1944-1945. 0.12 linear inches
Arranged chronologically.

Document management and direction of company by board of directors on quarterly basis. Contains secretary's minutes of meetings of the board of directors and of stockholders. Minutes for 1946-1956 missing.

PUULOA SALT WORKS

Originally owned by Kekauonohi, this land, on the ewa side of the mouth of the present Pearl Harbor, was conveyed to Isaac Montgomery, September 17, 1849. He sold the land to Charles W. Vincent two days later. Mr. Vincent developed and improved the extensive salt works. In February 1855, Daniel Montgomery, Isaac's brother, came to Hawaii from England. He purchased the became the proprietor of the Puuloa Salt Works. In 1862, in Equity Case #256 (Isaac vs. Daniel Montgomery), the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court ordered ".....a reconveyance of the estate to Mr. Isaac Montgomery, and the payment of a reasonable salary as agent to Mr. Daniel Montgomery after the affairs of the estate shall have been satisfactorily accounted for by the latter....."
